A STORY FOR BOYS—PROCTOR'S LIGHT.

"They also serve who only stand and wait."—MILTON.

To Proctor Harland, the boy who had resolved to protect the helpless family depending on him for support, it was weary the waiting, weary!

Mr. Martin gave notice to vacate. The farm had been mortgaged and no power on earth could lift the debt. Possession must be given July the first. It was now April, the ending of the tragedy. On the afternoon when the family were at supper, Hal said:

"Father's been dead a whole month. What's going to become of us? I'm tired waitin' fur some-thin' ter happen, an' I think I'll skip the country."

His mother cried over the baby in her arms. Proctor answered the questioning complaint:

"The cowards run off, Hal. You have to stay and help build a little home to put mother and the children in when we move away from this. Help me to pray that God will think of us!"

There was a knock on the door and Mr. Mills entered.

He apologized for the intrusion and made his business known.

"I am a goin' to make you a real offer, Pro," he said. "Bastrop is tired, and the Little Burr Field farm is without a keeper. You and your family may move there next week. A wagon will be sent to move you, and any assistance, in a money way, will be at your service. What say you?"

Proctor's heart was too full for utterance. He simply responded: "A load is lifted from my heart, and I thank you! Mother can't you say something?" She arose with the baby still in arms. What could she say in her ignorance? Only a thank you, with tears, and back to her chair and silence. Her weeping upset Blanch. She looked into the face of the stranger and exclaimed: "Bad man's mate, mudder cry, Mr. runned de man's awa'. Dood me!" patting her cheek and kissing the pink fingers of the young child.

No, sissy, no," said Mary.

"We are all a goin' where apples an' peaches grow, an' you can ride a shore putty horse."

Mr. Mills smiled at the picture and said "good bye." The will of the Lord was done. In the course of two weeks every thing was in readiness to move just across fences to the "Little Burr Pasture Farm," with its meadows of bluegrass, its red barn, and cow-lots, trees, birds and—home. No rent had to be paid and a living could be made out of mother earth. So it was with a tender thankfulness of heart that Proctor threw off his coat and went to work in dead earnest. Mrs. Harland gave her time to grieving over the past, but the others—full of new-born hopes, laughed, and enjoyed the novelty of life.

To Hal, this work from morn till noon, from noon to night was not of his own especial choosing, for playing on the hay was better than hauling it in, but Pro' was at the helm, and when he said ready, there was no going back after Proctor called.

Mary much preferred playing with Blanch, to washing dishes, feeding chickens, churning, and other housework, but she, too, had faith in her big brother, and grew to love to follow the light that his presence always gave. The angels who are sent to guide us must have known the blessings which were to follow in the life of the deformed child—the lessons to be taught—the lesson of meek, sweet patience. Bene was beautiful. His little life was like a ray of sunshine, his smile was a dream of heaven. None of the children, save Proctor, saw the changes in the poor bereaved, sad, mother. She found no pleasure in the new home. She could feel no happiness in the new surroundings, and so it was that having lost hope she lost the capacity to exist, and gave herself up to die.

"Pro," she said at the last hour: "You've been a good child to me. We've never needed anything since father died but that you tried to get it. I am goin' away, Proctor, an' I leave the children with you. Promise me never to leave Bene. God keep you all." With hand in her own he gave her the promise, and sitting with Bene in his arms, and the children sobbing round him, he watched the approach of the angel who bringeth peace and rest.

The woman smiled, she looked her last upon the helpless infant, and drifted out into the sunshine of His presence—the Father who giveth his beloved sleep. How much they missed her, and the baby could find no sympathy like that which his big brother gave, singing him to sleep every night, and folding him in the arms of a great love. It was only in the quiet of shadows, after the others were tucked into bed that the boy wondered. His thoughts were thronged with thoughts. They were registered only on the tablet of his great grief. He wept silently.

Not alone over the loss of his mother, who was herself only a child dependent on him, but that the one dream of his boyhood should now be lost forever. He could put aside his own feelings, but what of her, the sweetheart of his childhood years, the most precious treasure of the present. Could she be sacrificed? The prayer heard at the throne of Grace was wonderful in its simplicity. It was answered then in the consciousness of duty done. Those two must go the way of life separate and apart. It was destiny. Eight years rolled round. Years freighted with many changes and blessings to the Harland children.

Mary married Ben Mills, the son of their generous benefactor, and carried Blanch to her new home. Mary had developed, under the watch care of her brother, into a fine personality. She wished to take her brothers with her, but met a steady refusal. Little Blanch had grown to be a patient, sweet-tempered girl and threw her arms about her brother's neck when she left them. It was indeed a sad parting. One by one the chains were being broken, and one day Hal determined to go away. "A fine position was offered in Arizona. Would Proctor care if he accepted it?" They were sitting on the porch and Hal could not see the whitening lips nor blanched cheeks of his brother who replied to the question:

"Care much? God knows you have been everything to me since mother died, and more since the girls left me, but it is your good that is to be considered. In this case it is right to go." But I hate to go, Pro. It looks sneaking in my going off and leaving you to take care of Bene. He has been a great care to you, Proctor. You would have been a famous man with that pencil of yours if it hadn't been for Bene. Do you believe mother knew when she left him to your care?" "As sure as either of us, my brother, but let us not talk of this, Hal. If you are to go the preparations must be made and some day you will come back and take care of us. God keep you safe, my boy."

It was with a sad heart that Hal went his way. Looking back he saw Proctor and Bene rocking in his chair. Poor Pro with the sweet peace on his face. It made the boy weep heartbrokenly as he registered a vow to be true to his brother who had been so faithful to the living—so just to the wishes of the dead. "Alone are we, Bene. Will you, too, go away," and for answer the child crept closer to his loving breast.

It was only a few months after Hal left that Bene died. He seemed glad to go. At last he said: "Bene lonesome—Bene so tired." And they laid him away in the hope of the resurrection—perfected through suffering. Proctor Harland is an old, old man in these last days. His life has been full of quiet happiness in doing daily the will of God. His influence has been of untold blessing to those with whom he came in touch. He lives alone in the flower-embowered cottage he loves so well. His books, his drawings, are his employment—His look is pleasant, his light is burning.

A MIRACULOUS CURE.

The following statement by H. M. Adams and wife, Henrietta, Pa., will interest parent and others. "A miraculous cure has taken place in our home. Our child had been 5 years and was pronounced incurable. When we read about Electric Bitters, and concluded to try them, a second bottle was all taken we noticed a change for the better, and after taking 7 bottles he was completely cured. He is the up-to-date blood medicine and body building tonic. Guaranteed. 50c and $1.00 at all druggists.

The improvements being made at Jeffers Bros.' Livery Stable, East Main street, are nearing completion. They will have a number one stable then.

SUPERIORITY PROVES ITSELF.

The sincerest tribute that can be paid to superiority is imitation. The many imitations of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve that are now before the public prove it the best. Ask for DeWitt's. Good for burns, scalds, chafed skin, eczema, itching, cuts, bruises, boils and piles. Highly recommended and reliable. Sold by J. W. Gayle.

BROKE GROUND.

Mr. Thos. E. Kenney has broken ground for his new residence, on Steele street, next door to the home of Mrs. C. C. Newton. It will be a handsome two-story frame dwelling. Work will be pushed rapidly so that it will be ready for occupancy in the early fall.

DISTILLERIES CLOSED FOR SEASON.

The Geo. Baker Distillery, No. 23, closed down on the 15th of this month. The Old Taylor Distillery, No. 53, of E. H. Taylor, Jr. & Sons, closed down this week. There is not now a distillery in operation in the district, so far as we are informed.

SHAMELESS LIVES LEAD TO AWFUL DEATH.

The recent tragedy in New York City, by which a brute, posing as a gentleman, was ruthlessly slain by another equally brutal man, brings to light a mass of filth and moral degeneracy which is absolutely appalling to all decent people.

We regret to see all the daily papers filled with the disgusting details of the putrid lives of the two prominent figures and their female satellites. Far better to suppress all of it except the mere detail that one man, wild with jealousy, slew his enemy, than to spread broadcast to the world the sickening stuff that no decent man would have his daughters and sons to read.

The old axiom that vice, when first seen, is so repulsive that it is nauseating, but, by familiarity, comes at last to be embraced, is too often, alas, true of poor, frail humanity.

Brethren of the press, can there not be a higher ideal than simply to make sewers of our pages, in order not to be "scooped" on news?

REMARKABLE IMPROVE- MENT.

Mr. Clarence T. Jones, of Columbia, S. C. (but born and raised in this city), who came home to attend the laying of the cornerstone of the new State Capitol and other Home-Coming entertainments, will leave for his Southern home. Mr. Jones is very much impressed with the marked improvement in his native city, saying that he had no idea that the improvement was so widespread, substantial and beautiful. Especially was he impressed and pleased with the improvement in the residence portion of the South Side. He thinks the outlook is for still greater things.

He will return to his home in his big B— Motor Car by way of Louisville, Nashville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, etc.

Mr. Jones is one of a big firm of architects who have been very successful in drafting plans for many public buildings in the South.

When our county authorities are ready to undertake the work, he proposes to submit plans for the new courthouse in this city.

We wish him all success in his work.

WHAT'S IN McCLURE.

The July McClure's is a good, hearty and satisfying read; some good articles on new things the world is doing, some important ones on vital topics of the day, and a good share of brisk and entertaining stories, the whole well served with attractive illustrations, many in color. Ray Stannard Baker's "New Music for An Old World," describing Dr. Thaddeus Cahill's marvelous instrument for producing music by electricity, the dynamophone, is full of suggestion and interest for both the musically and scientifically inclined. We have had many superficial descriptions of the San Francisco earthquake, but Henry Anderson Lader's record of experiences and the impressions in "My Sixty Sleepless Hours," written on the spot, and at the time of the fire, touches the real heart of the event. The beginning of the corrupt methods that resulted in the recent insurance scandals are interestingly shown by Burton J. Hendrick in the third installment of the "Story of Life-Insurance," in which he tells the career of Henry Baldwin Hyde, the founder of the Equitable. The ninth installment of Carl Schurz's "Reminiscences of a Long Life," contains some interesting impressions of Mazzini, the Italian patriot, and Kossov, the Hungarian. Kipling's study and imaginative stories of Old England continue with the life Parnesius, the Roman legionary, telling how he was given command of the forces on the Great Wall and fought successfully "The Winged Hare" (the Danes). Non-morose and perhaps experts as well will have their first morning sensations brought back to them vividly and amusingly by Julian Street's "My Enemy—the Motor." James Hopper has a story of the Philippines, "Gaybigan," which is full of color and power. "The Generous Mr. Dean," by Abby Maguire Bond, is an amusing character story with a little moral in its tail and "The Still of Billy-wan," by Stella F. Wynne, is full of fine Irish wit. "At the Top of the Road," by H. B. Gilling and "The Home Wind," are poems worth reading and rereading. Andre Castelane's pictures for the King tale are stories in themselves, so full they are of information and the spirit and flesh and life of the time.

I have owned my land on Arlington Heights, extending from the State Arsenal lot east to Mr. Riddell's lot, laid out on the ground in convenient lots fronting on new avenues to be opened as and when the lots shall be sold; and I have at my office a plat made by R. A. Frazier, City Engineer, showing the location and dimensions of the lots and proposed streets and alleys, to which I invite the attention of those desiring to purchase lots for residence purposes.

The Water Co. and Gas Co. will extend their mains as the lots are sold, and sewer connection can be readily made.

The location of these lots can not be surpassed for healthfulness and the beauty of scenery.

SUIT FILED TO TEST REDISTRICTING LAW.

Attorneys W. H. Holt, W. C. Halbert, E. L. Worthington and George DuRelle filed suit on Monday, in the Butler Circuit Court, alleging the unconstitutionality of the recent redistricting act passed by the last Legislature.

The petition asks that the law be declared unconstitutional and void upon the ground that the law violates that provision of the Constitution requiring representation to be equal and uniform, and that the various representative and senatorial districts shall be composed of the most compact and contiguous territory, no more than two counties composing a representative district.

This suit was arranged for by the Republican members of the Legislature just prior to adjournment.

KENTUCKY FARES WELL IN PUBLIC BUILDING LAW.

In the new public building law, which has just passed Congress, Kentucky is very liberally dealt with. The following cities are allowed the following sums for public buildings:

Bowling Green	$100,000
Danville	50,000
Lebanon	80,000
London	65,000
Mayfield	40,000
Owensboro	175,000
Paris	40,000
Winchester	45,000
Cattlettsburg	7,000

CHANGE OF TIME.

The time table on the L. & N. R. R. has been changed somewhat. The early train for Louisville leaves at 5:40 a. m., instead of at 5:45 a. m. The train which has been reaching here from Lexington at 4:10 p. m. will hereafter come here at 3:50, which is a very desirable change.

Deadly

Grasp of Grip Prostrated Me.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Built Up My

Shattered Nerves and Gave Me an Appetite.

Of the millions of people, who today suffer from nervous or heart weakness, a large percentage trace the cause directly to deadly LaGrippe. It is a germ disease, and makes a direct attack upon the nerves, putting an extra strain upon them at the time their vitality is at the lowest ebb. If LaGrippe has left you with a shattered nervous system, with loss of appetite, lack of energy, incessant frequent headaches and morbid tendencies, you should strengthen the weakened nerves with Dr. Miles' Nerve. It will undo all that grip has done, bring back appetite, rest and restore the nerves to their normal activity.

"I want to write this testimonial for the benefit of those who have suffered from that dreaded disease—LaGrippe. I suffered several weeks with it, and nothing I tried seemed to benefit me in any way, shape or form (I suffered almost death) and finally my daughter recommended Dr. Miles' Nerve to me and I can truthfully say from the first day I felt better than in weeks. It gave me relief, built up my shattered nerves and gave me a splendid appetite. I cannot speak too highly of it and want to say, each and every one who has suffered from LaGrippe will find instant relief by getting a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nerve. Insist on having it and take no other. It is simply splendid. Hoping this will benefit some poor sufferer I remain,

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

While Mr. John L. Tobin was driving along Third street, on Monday morning, in a buggy the horse took fright at a wheelbarrow load of soiled clothing and ran away striking the wheel of the buggy against a hitching post in front of Judge T. J. Nunn's residence, throwing Mr. Tobin to the pavement, bruising and jarring him to such an extent as to cause temporary unconsciousness.

Mr. Z. T. Thomason and son, who were passing, ran to the assistance of Mr. Tobin and also to capture the horse, in which they were successful.

Later it was found that, while Mr. Tobin was badly bruised and shaken up, he was not seriously injured.

THE LARGEST YET.

The largest touring auto-car that we have yet seen was in the city on Tuesday afternoon. It had five seats, capable of holding 15 people, and was a tremendous affair. We could not learn to whom it belonged or where it was bound. It was only in the city a short while, leaving on the Versailles pike.

EFFICIENT OFFICER AND CLEVER GENTLEMAN.

We had occasion, recently, to pass over the railroad from Versailles to Georgetown, and wish to bear testimony to the efficiency and affability of Capt. J. R. Bryan, conductor on that road. He is every inch a gentleman and very popular with the patrons of the road. He is especially solicitous for the comfort of lady and children passengers, and no one could be more polite to all those who travel that way than Capt. Bryan.

We desire to return thanks for courtesies extended to us individually.

ANOTHER SHOOTING IN CRAW.

Early Morning Shooting in Semones' Saloon.

About 3 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday, a difficulty occurred in the saloon of Mr. Robert Semones, in the classic precincts of "Craw."

It seems that George ("Minky Dink") Thomson (son of the late Mr. Wirt Thomson), who was employed by Semones as a cook in the restaurant in the rear of the saloon, came in about the time given above and had some words with Semones, and then stated that he would quit. Semones told him that he would have to pay a debt he owed the concern before quitting or would have to work it out.

Again some hot words passed between the young men. It is said Thomson started towards Semones, when the latter slapped him. Thomson pulled a gun and fired twice at Semones, the first shot grazing the side of his head, the second took effect in the left side above the hip bone, and ranging down. Semones fell to the floor.

Dr. C. A. Fish was summoned and had him taken to the King's Daughters Hospital, where Dr. Fish, assisted by Drs. N. M. Garrett and J. S. Goodrich operated upon him, but could not locate the ball. It was found, however, that the intestines were not perforated and he has a good chance to recover.

Thomson was arrested by Officers Johnson and Samples and lodged in jail to await the result of Semones' wound.

Score one more shooting for "Craw," and another argument for not licensing saloons in that delectable quarter.

A WESTERN WONDER.

There's a Hill at Bowie, Tex., that's twice as big as last year. This wonder is W. L. Hill, who from a weight of 90 pounds has grown to over 190. He says: "I suffered with a terrible cough, and doctors gave me up to die of Consumption. I was reduced to 90 pounds, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Now, after taking 12 bottles, I have more than doubled in weight and am completely cured." Only sure cough and cold cure. Guaranteed by all druggists. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

CITY COUNCIL.

The City Council met on Monday night last and transacted considerable business of minor importance.

A large number of building permits were authorized, which shows that the demand for dwelling houses is increasing rather than subsiding.

The Police Committee were authorized to purchase a patrol wagon not to cost over $150.

Repairs were ordered made to the St. Clair street bridge.

The option which the city holds upon the purchase of the waterworks is about to expire, and Mayor Hume called the attention of the Council to that fact. A committee was appointed to look into the matter and report.

Mr. Harry McEwing was elected a fireman to succeed Mr. Chick Kennedy, resigned.

A MELANGE.

As I take a whack at all creation, it is only meet and seemly that I take a "whack" at the man of Utah. If I was a man I could challenge him to "pistols and coffee for two, but, as I am only a woman, I guess it will have to be in the form of a letter. But first, imprimatur—let it be printed and know all men by these presents—that I, the "Witch" of Last Night's Thoughts, do heretofore set forth my utter abhorrence and detestation of that species of spiritual vivisection—that impaling on the reaper of a merciless wit—of which the man of Utah—the knight of the marbling quill (for truly he charges a subject with marbling quill) is the exponent. It bespeaks inherent cruelty, something I would not have entered into my make-up, for all the wealth of the Indies. Why that man would vivisection frogs and dogs in the interests of science. Ugh! I call the readers of the Roundabout to witness that this war of words has not been of my seeking, but when a specimen of the genus, homo-dermatite, puts on large glasses and goes out prospecting for trouble, don't you think it is in accordance with the eternal fitness of things that he locate a place of that precious metal, yeelp trouble? A sort of Rowland for his Oliver? By the way, while I think of it, who is D. Mende Woodson? (Don't all speak at once.) And how it is I've never heard of him before, and his name is not enrolled side by side with the other great men of earth, in the "Hall of Fame." I would love to know, for courtesy killed a cat once. I believe I could sum him up in a word of five letters, and when phreatic springing obtains it won't take but three. The first I ever knew of him he was bearing down on me, like a rush of worlds, from their orbits, brandishing the awful weapon of the verb, "to vivisection" in one hand, and in the other such unanswerable queries as "Why God should have made Eve from Adams rib, and then not take Mr. Lions rib to make Mrs. Tiger." Has he been in his belly, or why, in the name of all that is logical and the "Great Horn Spoken," does he ask me such a question as that? Did I ever for one moment profess to be acquainted with the workings of the "Great One?" An contrary did I not say, in King's English, "A God comprehended would be no God at all." And if I know one thing, must I know every thing? When, as a matter of fact, I will acknowledge, every hour in the day, that I only know that I know nothing. If I could tell him off hand, I fail to see how it would vary materially, add to the sum total of human knowledge. There are many, many things I would much rather know than that. Well, we will have to wait until "we die and go—I know not where—above the snake and stir of this dim spot, which men call earth." Heigh ho! Alas, and alack! That man will be requiring of me the whereabouts of Robinson Crusoe's man Friday next, or a tooth of the Sacred Elephant, or the little round button on the great Pangam-drum, I can tell him this much about Mr. Lion—though where he is, was constant on my coat of arms, he is, now, rampant—regardant, I don't know much of whaling or sailing, never having been on a whaling ship to the Atlantic, nor as Super-cargo to the tropics, but, it seems to me that if I had attacked the man of Utah with a harpoon he wouldn't have been any more the belligerent gentleman. I wonder why, dear heart alive, what a disciple of the doctrine of "Universal Brotherhood" he makes Mr. Gaines and I look like thirty cents, and feel like unto Pollock's supercilious atom, "which when created and found to be over and above that which was necessary, was cast back into nothingness, with everlasting sense that once it was." It would seem that we will have to hide our diminished heads, or become an "also ran," but as a matter of fact, I haven't an idea of doing anything of the kind. Why, he is a modern Shylock, for his pound of flesh. He doesn't want Mr. Gaines to appropriate any of the crumpling stunt, because he wants to relegate all the business to himself. He is nothing if not an ilk, fine crusader. It seems to me that if there was no crusade, there had as well be no D. Mende Woodson. History gives no account of his ever having been pleased with but two things, himself and Utah. Long may he there remain. I think that for him, the Great Ego—the absolute I, is written all over the face of nature. He rings the changes on "the being whose center is everywhere, and whose circumference is nowhere." Well, why, not? There is no harm in it, and it sounds real well. But I fear me much that he is a creed whose "center is every where, and whose circumference is nowhere." He seems to stand hand on sword, at attention "to read, to write," and "to criticize," a sort of right angle triangle of a man. Let's see—the square of the hypotenuse is equal to the square of the sum of the other two sides. The hypotenuse is the longer side of a right angle triangle; then in this case, it goes without saying, that "to criticize" is the hypotenuse, since that is clearly the longest side of this man, "to read and to write," and the other two sides. Now, don't you think the square of the fact that he has the Nicholas head for figure, I will see built a problem for his solution. It is as old as the hills, but has never been correctly solved. If it takes 9 years of moonshine to make a mooley cow an evening dress, how far is he to the moon? Of course we know that usually it is 994,000 miles, but there is no telling how much this mooley cow, and evening dress business is going to increase or diminish it. It is bound to cut some loss in the solution of the problem. Now, this is an argument of three propositions—the mooley cow, the evening dress, and the moon. A kind of physical-astronomical syllogism. If he can only get his major and minor premises correct, my word for it, his syllogism is sure to be. I want to suggest that he go out and coral a herd of logarithms, to abridge calculations, but for the fact that you can't quite apply the usual remedy—spherical astronomy in this case, because of the physical element entering so largely into the problem, nor bring to bear any of the family of Calculus—whether Barycentric, Imaginary, Integral, exponential or differential. It is an awful tangle. But, stay, I believe I have it. As the man who is going to solve the problem is a physical animal, and the mooley cow is a physical animal, and the evening dress is a confection for a physical animal, why not try physical astronomy? Well, if all else fails, I suggest heliography as a method of solution. Nonsense. Certainly it is, "but a little jolly now and then is relished by the wisest men." The erudite gentleman of Utah says that my article of March 24th "is clearly a theme of the composite order." Well, what's the matter with having an article of the composite order, any way? Is there anything that is not made up of parts? I wish he would pass me over a few. A few integers, that are not capable, by some species of disintegration, of being resolved into their integral parts. All that is not atomic in its constitution is not matter, and that is not matter is not at all. Even the luminiferous ether, the nearest approach to spirit we have, is atomic in its constitution. It would not be an entity, else, and would have to be classed as spirit or matter. Absolute coexistence is absolute density. Where there are no inter-spaces, there can be no yielding. An ether absolutely dense, would put an infinitely more effectual stop to sidereal revolution than would an ether of adamant or iron. When we arrive at an unperturbed matter, I believe we reach God, God exists, and spirit does not, therefore God is not spirit. We can not conceive of that which is not. I believe that God is matter—but not matter as we understand it; and that there are gradations of matter of which we know nothing; the grosser impelling the finer, the finer prevailing the grosser. Just as the electric principle permeates the atmosphere, and the atmosphere impels it. Why in the name of all that is peaceful, could not the man of Utah pursue his own slap ash, hit or miss style, and allow me to pursue the even or uneven, as the case may be, tenor of my own composite way? Must he rise, Phoenix-like, out of the ashes of my reputation as an author? Ye gods! What a disciple of the doctrine of "Universal Brotherhood," the laying down of all things selfish." God bless the man, or woman, who is human enough to urge you to greater endeavor. I wouldn't have cared four pence sterling for his criticism if he had only practiced a little of what he preaches a good deal. If he wants to ask any question concerning anything I assumed or asserted in my article of March 24th, and will use just a soup con of that Universal Brotherhood doctrine, I will answer him according to my very best lights as far as in and around me lies. But, falling this (and I think, as well might the astronomer hold his sextant in the midnight sky expecting to obtain an observation of the sun), I answer no questions of his asking. Not I on your life. I will just remark, en passant, that that article was intended to be printed in paragraphs, and that I had the Mr. so arranged—but, that is all right. The Roundabout is the best paper in the world, and Mr. Lewis one of the finest men I have ever met. In avoiding Soylia, the gentleman of Utah has run amuck of Charybdis; as to whether he took the volvoxolator or the bacterium for the slay mustard seed, depends on sayest not. It seems to me, if he had a speaking acquaintance with the triple combination—biology, zoology and botany—he ought to know I said nothing of "the tiny mustard seed." He says "Providence is not arraigned." (Verily I believe the ink-well he uses is the original one in which truth lies buried.) I don't believe there is a man (only the man of Utah), woman, child, horse or carriage, who read that article, that would, for a moment, accuse me with a thought of really arraigning Providence. He says that touching the theory that portions of the Divine Being are incarnate or incorporated in this grosser matter, we are a unit. Well, I'm sure I'm thankful for small mercies. I don't believe because of sin, suffering had to come into this world, and to suffer we have to have organs; and further believe that we will always have organs, i. e., we will never be bodiless. To divest man of corporate investiture would be to render one of God's acts futile, purposeless, and we could not imagine one of His acts returning upon itself. He makes no mistakes. I believe that unperturbed matter, existing unincorporated in this world, we can not conceive of it because of the limitations of the human mind, and that the pain of the primitive life of earth is the sole basis of the bliss of this ultimate life in heaven. But, I can not go into this any further, now—haven't space. Mr. Lewis is looking obliquely at me now. Well, finally, I propose a toast to the man of Utah, like "Old Glory," "long

The ease and speed with which this huge machine glides over the road was something new to us. We enjoyed the trip immensely and desire to return to Mr. Jones our sincere thanks for the pleasure afforded us.

The distance covered was 141 miles and was made in the quick time of about 35 or 40 minutes. If the necessary stoppages on account of horses and other teams on the way had been deducted the time would have been cut down to less than half an hour.

A remarkable thing to us was the few horse or mule teams that were frightened by the big machine as it sped along the pike.

MAJ. W. C. OWENS NOMINATED.

Maj. W. C. Owens, formerly of Scott county, was nominated for Congress in the Louisville (Fifth) Congressional District by the Republican Convention which met on Thursday night. There was a spirited fight between Owens and Blakey, but Blakey withdrew his name before the ballots were counted.

VERSAILLES' GOOD LUCK

At the last moment an amendment to the public buildings bill gives to our little sister city of Versailles a $25,000 public building. We are glad to see this. Versailles is a thriving and pretty city and her postoffice has never had appropriate quarters.

Eminent Doctors Praise its Ingredients.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe, one of the Editorial Staff of The Eclectic Medical Review says of Unicorn root (Helicium Boerhaave) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription": "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator. It restores the normal action of the entire reproductive system. He continues: 'In this medicine we have a medicine which more fully answers the above purposes than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent.' Dr. Fyfe further says: 'The following are among the leading indications for Helicium (Unicorn root). Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; stone (renal condition) of the reproductive organs of women; mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the pelvis of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flowing) due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly periods); arising from a general debility; an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen.'"

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helicium, and the medical properties of which it most faithfully represents.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says: "It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions, and general debility, it is most useful."

Prof. John M. Sender, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal: "It is valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flowing) and excessive uterine contractions (painful menstruation)." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

NOVEL AND USEFUL ATTACHMENT.

The Roundabout is indebted to Mr. Frank G. Stag, the hustling hardware merchant, for a novel and useful attachment for a telephone instrument. It is a card case, made of aluminum, with spring back, in which is arranged a set of cards on which the names of those phones are most used, together with the number. The cards are arranged alphabetically. It is certainly a novel and useful device.

The disgusting discharge from the nose and throat, and the foul catarrhal breath, are quickly dispensed with by using Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. Such soothing antiseptic agents as Oil Eucalyptus, Thymol, Wild Indigo, etc., have been incorporated into a snow white cream making a catarrhal talem unexcelled. Sold by all dealers.

AUTO DAMAGED.

While a party of strangers (three ladies and three gentlemen) were backing their big auto around, at the corner of Ann and Broadway streets, Thursday afternoon, the machine was backed against the switchbar of the L. & N. R. R. and the bar and attachments smashed, at the same time the rear lamp of the auto and the oil tank of the machine were smashed pretty badly.

We could not learn where the occupants of the machine were from, but they were delayed for quite a while before they could have the machine repaired.

After the supper a number of short talks were given by members of the company.

BAD ACCIDENT.

Mr. Dan Meagher, Sr., was very seriously hurt, on Friday last, by a pile of fence posts falling upon him in his back yard, on Ann street. A rib was broken, he was bruised internally, and a nail in a post cut a bad gash just above and around the right eye, narrowly escaping the eye itself.

Dr. H. S. Keller was summoned and closed the gash with a number of stitches.

RETURNS AFTER FIVE YEARS WANDERING.

Young Charles Fugazzi, son of Mr. Chas. Fugazzi, the owner of a fruit store and restaurant in this city, returned home, on Sunday last, after having been away five years.

He left here when only 13 years of age, and now returns a sturdy young man of 18 years.

He had always been rather of a roving disposition and had disappeared for a week or so at a time once or twice before.

The family thought, at the time of his disappearance, that he had gone with a circus troupe, which appeared here the day he left, going towards Louisville. They used every endeavor to find him, advertising and offering rewards for information as to his whereabouts.

But Charlie had gone in the opposite direction, and made his first stop in West Virginia, having hired to a man in Lexington to assist in shipping a lot of mules. He first worked in a coal mine; then on a farm near Fairmount, W. Va., for a year; afterwards for three years and over on a farm at Grover's Gap, near Littleton.

He says he had a good place, enjoyed the work and was very kindly treated by his employer. While there he attended the country schools.

About a month ago he determined to come home and wrote to Assistant Postmaster J. R. Todd to find out if his father and family were still here. He was informed that they were and started for home.

He says he has never had to beg for money or food, but was able to work for all he had and has enjoyed himself. He says he will stay here with his father for a time, but later expects to go to California to reside.

The family were delighted at his return a sturdy and strong young man—with very little resemblance to the delicate looking boy that "skidded."

CLIMATIC CURES.

The influence of climatic conditions in the cure of consumption is very much overdrawn. The poor patient, and the rich patient too, can do much better at home by proper attention to food digestion, and a regular use of German Syrup. Free expectoration in the morning is made certain by German Syrup, so is a good night's rest and the absence of that weakening cough and debilitating night sweat. Restless nights and the exhaustion due to coughing, the greatest danger and dread of the consumptive, can be prevented or stopped by taking German Syrup liberally and regularly. Should you be able to go to a warmer climate, you will find that of the thousands of consumptives there, the few who are benefited and regain strength are those that use German Syrup. Trial bottle, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all drug-gists. 1 yr.

HORSE BADLY HURT.

Mr. Ed. Power has a blind horse which was standing under an apple tree in the yard (at his home, on East Main street). An apple fell on his head, frightening him, when he dashed away falling over a pile of brick and crashed into the end of the greenhouse nearest the house, cutting and mangle his breast and legs, and breaking a blood vessel in his left hip, which rapidly filled up under the skin until it was as large as a man's two fists.

THE WISDOM OF ANIMALS.

You can not induce a lower animal to eat heartily when not feeling well. A sick dog starves himself, and gets well. The stomach, once over-worked, must have rest the same as your feet or eyes. You don't have to starve to rest your stomach. Kodol for dyspepsia takes up the work for your stomach, digest what you eat and give it a rest. Puts it back in condition again. You can't feel good with a disordered stomach. Try Kodol. Sold by J. W. Gayle.

GROUND BROKEN FOR THE FRANKFORT-VERSAILLES TRACTION LINE.

The Woodford Sun says:

"The work of grading the roadbed for the Frankfort-Versailles electric line was begun Monday at a point three-fourths of a mile from town on the Frankfort turnpike. A force of fifteen or twenty teams and a number of laborers are at work."

"Private right-of-way has been secured the entire distance and the company has already made payment to a number of the property owners."

LEXINGTON FOURTH OF JULY.

The Bullet is now in Lexington. It is getting ready for its flight in the air.

What is the Bullet, do you ask. Why it is the big airship, the biggest of its kind in the world, and it will make a flight over the fields and meadows of the Blue Grass on the Fourth of July.

At the height of 2,000 feet it will encircle the grounds, but the point of interest is to watch it at anchor struggling to get free, to see the liberation, to watch it rise, sailing round and round until it reaches the desired height and then sail away under perfect control of the operator, making a trip to a neighboring town and return to settle once more at the point of starting.

Prof. Leslie B. Haddock, the designer, builder and owner of the airship, arrived in Lexington Wednesday with his "Monarch of the Clouds" on a special, and brought a corps of assistants with him.

Arrangements have also been made with the famous DeAcos family, who are renowned as the champion rifle shots of the world.

Three will be three heat trotting and three heat pacing races, in which some of the most noted steppers of Kentucky will take part. Add to these a mile-run, a long race, bicycle and automobile races and you have an afternoon of genuine Kentucky sport and amusement.

Two big bands will furnish music.

The entire affair will be opened with a monster parade with floats, bands and banners, a royal pageant of splendor and instruction.

Special excursion rates will be given on all railroads and traction lines. For particulars see small bills, or write to Louis H. Ramsey, Secretary, Lexington, Ky.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION.

The coming 4th of July, which falls on Wednesday next, will be duly celebrated in this city.

The Business Men's Club has arranged the following program:

Band concert at old Capitol 10:30 a. m.

Master of Ceremonies—Hon. L. F. Johnson.

Address—By Hon. South Trimble.

Music by Second Regiment Band.

Oratorical Contest—Subject: "The Day We Celebrate," by young men over 18 years of age; time limit 15 minutes; not less than three entries, for $10 in gold, first prize; $5 in gold second prize. Music.

In the afternoon and evening the members of the Y. M. I. will give a delightful picnic at Glenwood Park, when all kinds of amusements will be engaged in and many handsome prizes awarded.

A HUSTLER.

Capt. J. D. Sallor, the Superintendent and Manager of the Traction Co., is hustling things along in this city. In addition to giving a first-class street car service, he is putting the road in shape for the big interurban cars, without interfering with traffic; he is hard at work lowering the grade on Arlington Heights, replacing the tight rails and ties with heavy material, so that when the force of men now at work on the Versailles end reach this city the connection can be easily made.

He is the "right man in the right place"—sure.

Pink lips, like velvet. Rough, chapped or cracked lips, can be made as soft as velvet by applying at bedtime, a light coating of Dr. Shoop's Green Salve. The effect on the lips or skin of this most excellent ointment is always immediate and certain. Dr. Shoop's Green Salve takes out completely the soreness of cuts, burns, bruises and all skin abrasions. It is surely a wonderful and most highly satisfactory healing ointment. In glass jars at 50c. LAME EVERY MORNING.

A Bad Back Is Always Worse in the Morning. Frankfort People Are Finding Relief.

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. Makes you feel as if you hadn't slept at all.

Can't cure a bad back until you cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys—make you feel better, work better, rest better and sleep better.

Permanent cures in Frankfort prove the worth of Doan's.

Mrs. Margaret Wetzel, of 318 Mero street, wife of Lucas Wetzel, baker by trade, now retired, says: "For a number of years I suffered from a persistent aching across the kidneys. At times my back was so bad that I could hardly sit still, get up or down, or lift anything even of ordinary weight. At night I bothered me so that I could not rest comfortably and when I first arose in the morning I felt tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were irregular, highly colored and distressing, and on standing deposited a heavy sediment. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, procured a box at J. W. Gayle's drug store and began to use them. In a few days I noticed that the secretions had assumed a natural appearance, the pains and aches left me and I felt as ever after completing the treatment. Nothing pleases me more than to speak a word in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills."

WORK BEGINS.

On Traction Line Between Frankfort and Versailles.

W. J. Hayden, a contractor of this city, began work at Versailles Monday working on the traction line between Frankfort and Versailles. Mr. Hayden has been busy for the last week employing laborers and collecting wagons, carts, etc., with which to carry on the work of construction.

George MacLeod, of Versailles, an engineer for the Lexington and interurban railways, will superintend the making of the road.
The right of way was laid off about two weeks ago and fenced in immediately. The work of construction will be pushed rapidly to completion, and it is likely that by spring there will be an interurban line running from Lexington to Frankfort. — Lexington
